THE MENACE

With all of the rubbish that litters our minds, we only endure the impossible kinds; there's some that blows in, with the dust of the day, but it's never much trouble to bresh 'em away. . . . There's other afflictions that do us to death; they sizzle our whiskers and shorten our breath—and the geezer in front of the villainous clan, is what we may term "the impossible man." The wisdom of sages is stored in his bean—he's the knowingest critter that ever was seen. . . . He's allers around where there's nothin' to do,—discussin' religion and politics, too! He can periscope, publish, and piffle, and plan—this most super-human, impossible man. . . . He's full, to the muzzle, of virulent gall, and ginerally fights with his back to the wall—for no one endorses his militant jazz—if any one did it he's sorry he has,—we're sick of his bombast, and babble, and bosh—he ort to be sent to the Senate, begosh!

WARNING DISREGARDED

FROM the sea there have come strange tales. Who is there, when a boy living in a seaport town, who has not had the hair on his head stand straight up at night after listening to some sea roamer spin happenings of the deep? But at that none of the old yarns can, perhaps, outdo the story which the city papers carried regarding the burning of the motorship Babinda, which was coming from San Pedro to San Francisco and which was destroyed by fire while off Santa Cruz one day last week and her crew rescued in the darkness of early morning by the steam schooner Celilo after S. O. S. calls had been sent out by the doomed vessel.

The Celilo brought tales of heroism in a flaming inferno and of the death of the ship's mascot, a black cat, a martyr to duty. Captain Maland said the ship's cat, Jerry, for years its mascot, tried repeatedly the night of the disaster to warn him and the crew of the danger. Jerry, being a real fo'csle hand, never before had presumed to go aft of hatch No. 1, but on the night the boat burned the cat forced its way repeatedly into the skipper's cabin and the officers quarters, loudly caterwauling its warning.

WHEN WE'RE GONE

IT always is amusing to hear this or that man bemoan the fact he is afraid no one will appear to take up his work when death takes him. The truth of the matter is there is not a one of us who will be missed any length of time from the place we fill. Along this line, and very truthfully do these lines, picked up at random from an exchange, run:

Someone will take your place when you are gone,
Will come as you to face the morning mail,
Hear the small talk and bear the burden on,
And in his care the venture will not fail.
You may be brave and wise and quick and strong,
You may command with courage and with grace,
But one shall come, when you have passed along,
And serve with equal splendor in your place.
And he may see what you have never seen,
May find new ways your feet have never trod,
And he may go where you have never been.
For, after all, the greatest of us plod.
In all the throng you may not see his face;
Secure you seem, and all your prospects fair,
But one there is who waits to take your place—
Against your passing. Life has placed him there.

AN OLD CONTEST

AN exchange takes occasion to say radicals are out in opposition to the renomination of President Harding. That was to be expected. Radicals in the Democratic party will be out against conservative candidates, also. It is a little early to make predictions, but radicalism, which shifts its party allegiance overnight, is likely to find in 1924 that the conservative forces of American politics will not be napping, and that discontents and enemies of orderly government will have rough sledding.

PRODUCES AUTOCRACY

THE dangers lurking in the state budget plan now stand exposed before members of the Commonwealth club, which sponsored the new fiscal arrangement, following one address last week by Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, who admitted having worked for the adoption of the measure at the last election but who, like many others, did not realize the powers it vested in the hands of the governor.

Lieut. Gov. Young told the club members the budget practically established an autocracy in that it gave the governor authority to undo the acts of the legislature and the people by withholding money from important state departments.

Lieut. Gov. Young said his talk was not personally antagonistic to Governor Richardson, but a strong difference of opinion on what he believed served the best interests of the state.

The fate of the mining bureau, board of forestry, commission of immigration and housing and board of charities and corrections is doomed under the provisions of the Richardson budget, and precedent thus established could make possible any future governor literally tearing the state government to pieces, it was pointed out.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH ETHICS

In the telling of jokes there are certain rules which may not be broken without violation to the proprieties and the traditions. For example, the ethics of this honorable and ancient profession demand that all jokes dealing with mules or watermelons must have persons of African descent for their central characters. And if you are telling a story of the clothing trade a Hebrew inevitably is your hero. By these same tokens, Scotchmen invariably are featured when the point of the narrative relates to the trait of frugality. It is equally true that jokes pertaining to construction jobs and notably to jobs on the rights-of-way of railroads should center about Irishmen. For a conspicuous example of this last we need look no further than Strickland Gillilan's famous poem, "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnigan!"

In this connection, I think of two stories, both of which fall within the rule. Here is the first one:

Out west a dump car broke its couplings and went on a lightning trip down grade. At a switch it was derailed, turning over on its side and instantly crushing to death a Mexican laborer.

It fell to the lot of the foreman of the gang to which the victim belonged to render a report of the tragedy. This foreman, whose name I believe was Cassidy—at any rate, it was a good Hibernian name—got along fairly well with his literary labors until he came to the final space in the printed form, opposite the question: Remarks? Mr. Cassidy studied awhile and then inserted these words: "He never made none!"

The companion-piece has for a setting a stretch of a southern line whereon a freight train had killed a cow, the property of a farmer. Mr. Dugan, the resident section-boss, interviewed the owner of the slain animal and then proceeded to fill out a blank for the subsequent use of the claim agent who in due time would adjudicate the damages on behalf of the company.

Painstakingly Mr. Dugan entered references relating to the circumstances under which the fatality occurred, also the age, color and presumed value of the lately deceased cow and other particulars, as gleaned from eye-witnesses and from the bereft farmer. But he was stumped when he came to the words: "State disposition of the remains!"

He was stalled, but not for long; he set down this: "She was kind and gentle!"

OBLIGING

A man who had been drinking too many saw a sign, "Please ring the bell for the caretaker."

He walked up and gave the bell such a pull that it nearly came out by the roots.

In a few moments an angry man appeared at the door. "Are you the caretaker?" asked the bell puller.

"Yes. What do you want?"

"I saw that notice, so I rang the bell, and now I want to know why you can't ring it yourself."—London Ideas.

THE LEGAL WAY ROUND

A lawyer thus illustrates the language of his craft: "If a man were to give another an orange, he would simply say: 'Have an orange.' But when the transaction is intrusted to a lawyer to be put in writing he adopts this form: 'I hereby give and convey to you, all and singular, my estate and interests, right, title, claim and advantages of and in said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pips, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut, suck and otherwise to eat the same or give the same away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pips, anything hereinbefore or hereinafter or in any other means of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.'

"And then another lawyer comes along and takes it away from you."—Boston Globe.

NAMING THE BABY

'I've decided on a name for baby," said the young mother. "I shall call her Euphrosyne."

Her husband did not care for the suggestion; but, being a tactful fellow, he was far too wise to say so.

"Splendid," he said cheerfully. "The first girl I ever loved was called Euphrosyne and the name will revive pleasant memories."

There was a brief silence. Then:

"We will call her Elizabeth, after my mother," said the young wife firmly.

PEOPLE OF FEW WORDS

Out in the far west the wasting of words is discouraged. Even lawyers and judges are said to be economical along that line. Senator Harreld, of Oklahoma, says a judge in his state delivered the shortest address to the jury on record. It was as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury, the prisoner has nothing to say, and I have nothing to say. What have you got to say?"

Potter Valley Will Try For Irrigation

The regular meeting of the Potter Valley Farm Bureau Center Friday evening, was well attended and instructive. Chairman R. R. Ingels presided. The office of secretary-treasurer being vacant O. B. Filben was elected. Routine business was rapidly disposed of and the subject of irrgation, which continues to be the absorbing topic in Potter Valley, was presented for consideration.

Attorney Kasch Explained

Chas. Kasch being present was asked by the chairman to explain the method of procedure in the formation of an Irrigation District. It appeared the petition and bond were ready for the signatures of property owners within the proposed district and after discussion, a committee was appointed to circulate the petition and bond and present the same to the County Board of Supervisors. Those on the Committee are A. F. Busch, O. B. Filben, Jas. Eddy, A. F. Whittaker, Wiley Brooks, and C. F. Hardisty.

Whole Valley Is Sad Over Deaths

Potter Valley, March 5, 1923.

The community was saddened last week by the death of two of its highly esteemed members, Mrs. Lydia Phelps Neil, wife of C. B. Neil and John Busch. Mrs. Neil was removed to San Francisco for an operation for gall stones, from which she never rallied. Her body was brought here for burial, and her funeral Sunday was attended by almost the entire population of the valley. The large gathering and the profusion of floral offerings expressed the high degree of respect in which she was held as well as sympathy for the bereaved family. Besidse her husband she leaves two daughters, a mother and a brother to mourn her loss.

Died At Spokane

John Busch was visiting relatives near Spokane, Washington, at the time of the death, and the first news his family received was a telegram announcing his demise. His wife immediately left to bring the body of her husband home for burial, but as yet she has not arrived and no particulars have been received. Mr. Busch leaves a number of brothers and sisters as well as many other relatives in this vicinity.

The senior play, "Mr. Bob" which was to have been given last Saturday evening, will be staged Wednesday of this week. The delay was caused by a member of the cast having a session with chicken pox.

Potter Valley Lady Died In The City

Funeral services were held at the Potter Valley cemetery Sunday afternoon for Mrs. C. B. Neil of Potter Valley who died in San Francisco Wednesday night following an operation for gall stones. Mrs. Neil, who was a most estimable woman, was 51 years old and leaves to mourn her untimely passing a husband, two little daughters, aged 11 and 13 years, an aged mother in Alameda and a brother in San Francsco.

She was a native of Alameda but had lived for about 15 years in Potter Valley where she was universally loved and where many friends will extend sympathy to the family in their irreparable loss.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burkhart and niece, Miss Margaret Frasier, of Potter Valley were over Sunday visitors.

Better Cows Are Needed By Farmers

Covelo, Calif., March 5, 1923.
(Press Special Service)

S. V. Morrison, Manager of the Northern division of the California Central Creameries, accompanied by F. E. Buck and T. E. Day of the San Francisco division spent several days here last week, looking over the local creamery and planning for the interests of its patrons. As a result of their visit some alterations will be made in the plant, which was already undergoing its annual renovating and painting. Particular attention was paid to the pasteurization of skim milk at the plant, with a view to inducing the dairymen to bring their milk to the creamery, and have it pasteurized, before feeding to the calves they raise, instead of separatng the milk on the farms, and feeding the home skimmed milk to the calves.

Round Valley has made a splendid start towards establishing a tubercular free area, and the point these gentlemen make is that herds that have been tested for tuberculosis, may still have reactors appear, and before the next tests are made, cows may develop tuberculosis enough to impart it through the milk fed to the calves if it is fed without pasteurizing.

Many of our dairymen have fine stock, but hand separated milk, that is not pasteurized may be the cause of losing the young stock from t. b. later.

Mrs. Rose Eckhart, who has been quite ill with influenza which was later followed by a severe case of rheumatism, was so far on the way to recovery as to be able to go with members of the Crawford family to San Francisco by motor Sunday.

Tom Poulos is here from San Francisco and will probably be connected with the Maple Confectionery during the spring and summer.

Capt. James Bennett Has Passed Away

Many Mendocino county residents will learn with regret of the death of Captain James Bennett, pioneer shipper of the Pacific coast who owns a summer home on Tomki Creek, near Eden Valley formerly known as the Fulwider ranch. Captain Bennett's death occurred in San Francisco Monday following an illness of two months. He was extremely prominent in marine circles and served for a time as superintendent of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co. Captain Bennett was known as a prince of good fellows and made many friends in this county where he always passed his summers. He is survived by a wife and married daughter, Mrs. Chariotte St. Clair of San Francisco, where the funeral will be held today.

W. L. Crawford was mingling with friends here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Joslin of Longvale and son George visited relatives in Ukiah over the week-end.

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE

Ukiah Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains and Aches

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all backaches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well-recommended by Ukiah people. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. F. Updegraff, 335 E. Perkins St. Ukiah, says: "My kidneys caused me a good deal of trouble. I often had pains through my back and kidneys that made me miserable. My kidneys acted irregularly, so when I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I used them. They soon removed all signs of the trouble and strengthened up my kidneys in good condition."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Updegraff had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

MAKE THE STRANGER WELCOME IN COUNTY

A message from Californians, Inc. which is a subsidiary organization of the San Francisco Chmaber of Commerce, organized for the purpose of putting on a national advertising campaign which has been under way a little more than three months, directed by Dr. B. M. Rastall, is just out.

At the time of writing this campaign has broken all previous records, judging from the standpoint of results obtained in proportion to the money expended and it seems the results are only beginning. Gradually, from day to day, the volume of written inquiries in answer to the advertisements placed have increased. The highwater mark was reached on Monday, February 26th, when more than 7,000 written inquiries were received, making a total at that date of more than 60,000.

Great Travel Expected

Everything indicates the summer and fall of this year will bring the largest volume of tourists to California the State has ever known. This in turn will create better business conditions, and there is no doubt but what a large number of these pleasure seekers will either remain in California or return and become permanent settlers.

Would Be Friendly

At a meeting held in San Francisco, February 16th. which was attended by Secretary Brice Hoskins, representing the Ukiah Chamber of Commerce and Secretary Bob Austin, representing the Mendocino County Chamber of Commerce, which was a luncheon given by Californians, Inc. to the representatives of all Chambers of Commerce in Central and Northern California. Dr. Rastall explained the workings of the wonderful organization and further than that, outlined a plan looking toward active participation of all Chambers of Commerce and commercial organizations in California to create a real spirit of hospitality, so that these visitors who are coming to California will find a friendly reception awaiting them, and, if they sojourn a while in our state, they will be impressed not only with the beauties and grandeur of our scenery, with the commercial opportunities awaiting them, but also with the air of hospitality existing in every city, town and community.

What To Do

In order to bring this about the papers are requested to send this message to every organization and to every individual in the various counties: each organization is earnestly requested to immediately create a Hospitality Committee and to formulate plans whereby the strangers and travelers who from now on will visit our towns and communities will find someone on hand to bid them welcome and to offer the services of the various organizations, so their stay will be made more pleasant and profitable. It is suggested either all or some of the following ideas be used:

1. A Greeting Card worded something like this: First a blank line upon which can be written a name; this followed by the text: "Welcome to our City! We are glad that circumstances have brought you here, and we would like to contribute something towards making your stay both pleasant and profitable. Call at our Chamber of Commerce and make known your wants. Cordially yours." This to be signed by the Hospitality Committee.

These cards can be used in this way: By getting the cooperation of the hotels; have the name of guests who are strangers in the community written on the card and the card then placed in their box. Wherever it is possible this card should be augmented by a personal call by at least one of the Hospitality Committee.

Another suggestion is to have either all or part of the Hospitality Committee visit the Automobile Camp Grounds each day, and we would suggest the evening hour of about 8:00 o'clock.

A Nightly Camp Fire

A suggestion which can be utilized by communities having Automobile Camp Grounds is that provision should be made for a community Camp Fire in the Auto Park each evening. Our climatic conditions are such we are sure a camp fire would be enjoyed by the tourisits spending the night in our Camp Grounds. The Camp Fire idea is capable of considerable development. It can be made into a very enjoyable evening's entertainment, for the campers, if the Committees will think out and provide the entertainment, such as phonograph concerts, radio concerts, community singing, story telling, simple games, etc.

One last suggestion: All Commercial organizations should immediately take steps to promote an educational campaign in their communities, the purpose of which is to engender into every member of the community the thought that he or she can do a lot towards creating a spirit of hospitality and friendliness in his or her community.

All Are Different

Every city or community has its individual characteristics or we might say, personality. It is either hospitable and friendly, cold and unfriendly, or merely indifferent, and we are urgently requested to devote thought and effort towards creating the right spirit of hospitality so that the strangers in our midst will like us and want to come again.

For further information or active co-operation communicate with Robt. Austin, Secretary Mendocino County Chamber of Commerce, Ukiah, Cal. x

MINISTER SAYS IT HAS NO EQUAL

WIDELY KNOWN BAPTIST DIVINE PRAISES TANLAC FOR RESTORATION OF HEALTH

It is doubtful if there has ever been a medicine endorsed by so many ministers of the Gospel as has Tanlac. Indeed, there is scarcely a faith, creed or denomination in all the land in which one, or more, of the clergymen has not publicly expressed their indebtedness to the Premier Preparation for the benefits they have derived from its use.

One of the latest to speak out in this connection is Rev. B. M. Bridges, a widely-known and beloved Baptist preacher, residing at Mooresboro, N. C., whose statement follows:

"Tanlac has given me a good appetite, toned up my system and renewed my strength in such a gratifying way that I am glad to recommend it to anyone who is in a run-down condition. For ten years past I have had such a severe case of indigestion that I could not find anything to eat that agreed with me. Finally I became very nervous and could get but very little sleep or rest.

"It seems that I took nearly everything trying to get myself right, but nothing helped me until I ran across Tanlac. My nerves are so much better now that my sleep is sound and refreshing. I enjoy my meals and have also gained weight. I can say from experience that Tanlac is a splendid medicine and tonic, for it has built me up wonderfully."
